

Long-duration energy storage fills precisely this gap. Long-duration storage, defined as systems capable of delivering electricity over 8 to 72 hours or longer, directly addresses the most destabilising events ...

According to a new report from SolarPower Europe, 27.1 GWh were deployed in 2025, up 45% year on year, mostly powered by utility-scale systems. This confirms that Europe has already expanded its...

Large-scale storage accounted for 3.4 GWh of this, setting a European record and achieving a 15-fold increase in total new installations compared to the previous year. This brings Italy's cumulative energy storage ...

By recognising storage systems under EU funding mechanisms and grid planning processes, the EU can unlock their full potential, not only in stabilising energy supply and maximising...

Across EU member states, a total of 27.1 GWh of new battery storage capacity was installed in 2025. This marks the twelfth consecutive record year. According to SolarPower Europe's EU Battery Storage Market ...

The report shows that utility-scale systems have become the main engine of Europe's battery storage expansion, delivering 55% of all new added capacity in 2025 and marking a clear shift in the ...

In March 2025, the Commission launched the European Energy Storage Inventory, a real-time dashboard that displays energy storage levels across different European countries. It is the first European ...

The EU's battery energy storage fleet has grown for the 12th consecutive year, marking yet another record year for new installations. According to a new report from SolarPower Europe (SPE), 27.1 ...

SolarPower Europe's EU Battery Storage Market Review 2025 highlights that utility-scale systems have become the main driver of Europe's battery storage growth, representing 55 percent of all new ...

The European battery storage market grew by 15% in 2024, reaching 61.1 GWh of installed capacity. SolarPower Europe warns that, despite projecting to reach 400 GWh by 2029, the region needs at ...
